

EXCLUSION OF BATS FROM OCCUPIED STRUCTURES

EXPOSURE / HANDLING OF BATS: Individuals should not handle bats with their bare hands because of possible exposure to rabies. If they have not already done so, local health department (LHD) infectious diseases staff should interview individuals who have handled bats. See fact sheet URLs below.

HOW TO COLLECT A BAT: If there's any question about contact between a bat and people or pets, save the bat for testing. For example, a sleeping person awakens to find a bat in the bedroom. Put on leather work gloves – do not touch the bat directly with bare skin. Find a small container like a box or a large can, and a piece of cardboard large enough to cover the opening in the container. Punch small air holes in the cardboard. When the bat lands, approach it slowly and place the container over it. Slide the cardboard under the container to trap the bat inside; tape the cardboard to the container and secure the bat inside. Contact your local health department or animal control department for further instructions to have the bat tested for rabies. (If you are absolutely CERTAIN there's been no direct contact between the bat and any people or pets, carefully hold the cardboard over the container and take the bat outdoors and release it away from people and pets.)

EXCLUSION OF BATS FROM A BUILDING: Bats must be excluded from buildings to avoid additional incidents of exposure to bats and the accumulation of bat droppings indoors; this can be a difficult project. The work must be done by private contractors or other experienced private personnel, see info below. Please note that bats are protected by Department of Natural Resources and they cannot be harmed without a permit; see fact sheet URLs below. Please contact DNR about wildlife regulations: Ms. Jenny Skufca, 217-557-8243 jenny.skufca@illinois.gov.

CLEANUP OF BAT DROPPINGS: Bat droppings can harbor the fungus that causes histoplasmosis, a serious lung disease. Cleanup of accumulations of bat droppings must be done properly to avoid disease risk to personnel doing the cleanup and others. See fact sheet URLs below.
